

Psalm 9 (Part 1)

למנצח על-מות לבן מזמור לדוד

Of the choirmaster upon the death of a son a psalm of David db's trans.

- 1 I will give thanks to the LORD with all my heart,
I will recount all your marvelous works.
- 2 I will sing and exult in you,
I will remember your name, O Most High.
- 3 When my enemies are turned around,
They shall stumble and be destroyed from before your presence.
- 4 For you will maintain my judgment and my cause,
You will sit upon the throne judging righteously.
- 5 You will rebuke the nations; you will destroy the wicked,
You will blot out their name for ever and ever.
- 6 The enemy I will be finished; a desolation of ruins,
And the cities you have plucked up their memory is destroyed.
- 7 But the LORD will abide forever!
His throne is established for judgment.
- 8 So will he judge the world in righteousness,
And judge the peoples in uprightness.
- 9 So the LORD will a refuge to the oppressed,
A refuge in times of destitution.
- 10 So will the ones who know your name trust in you,
For you will not forsake the ones that seek you, O LORD.
